

Casey Smith has been a guide for Centennial Outfitters for over 10 years. He fulfilled his life long dream by purchasing Centennial Outfitters in 2014.

Casey plans to follow in Mel Montgomery's (previous owner of 27 years) footsteps by only employing the most knowledgeable guides in the area.

Tell us about your hunting experience, physical condition and medical needs and we will do our best to provide a hunt to fit your needs and put a trophy within your range.

Now is the time to experience a back-country hunt with Centennial Outfitters.

Come and enjoy the outdoors with us!

Accommodations

Back-country tent camps contain wood stoves, comfortable cots with mattresses and carpeted floors. A shower tent is set up with a wood stove.

Late season hunts operate from the lodge near Lakeview. The lodge has modern conveniences for your comfort.

Full-time cooks reside in camp and at the lodge, providing delicious home-style cooking.

Hunts

Hunts are conducted under state/federal permits and private ranch lands primarily for elk and deer. Other game species in the area are antelope, bear, and moose. Antelope and moose are on drawing only. This country also boasts exceptional waterfowl.

Your hunt includes a fully-guided pack in camp or lodge hunt, meals, lodging, airport pick-up (Idaho Falls) and delivery of your game to the taxidermist and/or butcher.

Archery hunts are conducted during the rut which gives you the best chance at a big bull.

Rifle hunts are a combination of horseback riding, hiking and still-hunting at elevations between 6,500 - 10,000 feet.

Centennial Outfitters

Welcomes you to experience quality back country elk hunting that will last a lifetime. We offer outstanding hunting in Southwest Montana in the Centennial Valley – one of the highest valleys in the Rocky Mountain Range.
